Confederates, Read.

All ex-Confederate soldiers of Bourbon county are invited to meet at the Odd Fellows Hall, in Paris, at 2 p. m., on Saturday, Nov. 23, to take part in formulating plans to assist in raising funds to establish a Confederate Home in Kentucky. We publish below an "Appeal to Kentuckians," issued recently as a result of a meeting of ex-Confederate soldiers at Louisville.

J. R. ROGERS,
Member of State Committee.

APPEAL TO KENTUCKIANS.

LOUISVILLE, Nov. 8, 1901.

The State Reunion of the United Confederate Veteran Association, at its annual meeting in Louisville on the 23d day of October, 1901, took definite and positive action concerning the founding and maintenance of a Confederate home. After full discussion the necessity of such a home was unanimously conceded, and it was determined by the said association to enter at once upon active work to secure that end. For this purpose the Commanding General was directed to designate a committee of 25 persons from the members of the association, which said committee was charged with the work of raising $25,000 for the purpose of building and furnishing a Confederate home, and said committee was also directed to take such steps as might be necessary to secure legislation in Kentucky by which a per capita allowance should be made from the State Treasury for the care and proper support of the inmates of such Confederate home.

It was deemed wise as well as just by the association that the Confederate veterans themselves in Kentucky should manifest such an interest in the Confederate home and should make such contribution and raise such sum as would show their willingness and their interest in this work.

The undersigned, appointed as this committee, have organized, have elected Col. Bennett H. Young chairman, Capt. J. H. Leathers treasurer, and Harry P. McDonald corresponding secretary, and an executive committee has been appointed to take the necessary steps to secure the heartiest co-operation from all the camps connected with the Confederate Association in Kentucky, and to lay out such plans and to secure such help as are essential to develop as well as to carry on this great work.

NEED OF THE HOME.

From information which has come to this committee, it is their judgment that there are at this time not less than fifty Confederate veterans who now need the help of such a home, and whose condition is such as to require some such provision for supplying their wants. The necessity for such an institution becomes more apparent as well as more pressing every hour. Ninety-five per cent. of all the Confederates in Kentucky are now over 60 years of age. The hardships through which they have passed while fighting for the cause which they believed to be just, is now beginning to tell with accelerated force with these veterans, fast approaching the evening time of life. Although less than forty years have elapsed since the end of the great civil struggle, the courage, the fidelity and the heroic endurance and superb fortitude of the veterans of the Confederate armies have become not only appreciated, but are recognized the world over as an example of patriotic devotion and manly self-sacrifice which is entitled the hearty recognition among a brave and chivalrous people. As the true story of the great war is more accurately written, the world is becoming better informed as to the suffering, intrepidity and patience and courage of the men who composed the Confederate army, and wherever men may go the conduct in battle and on the march of the men who composed both the Federal and Confederate armies, is now recognized as a type of the truest and highest manhood.

The Confederate soldiers had no pensions. They have relied upon themselves. They have fought life's battles in a vast proportion of instances, not only with great success, but also with fortitude, and with advancing years and decreasing numbers, the world begins to hold in highest appreciation the men who composed the armies which followed the Confederate leaders. As these old Confederates are held in such high esteem, it is distressing to all fair and reasonable men to see them lack either the necessaries or comforts of life. This duty to provide for helpless comrades, appeals with tremendous force to Confederate veterans themselves. It is not possible for the Confederate veterans in Kentucky to make proper provision for any great length of time for their debilitated comrades, and as the years come and go, the men who can help the invalid veterans are decreasing, while the numbers of Confederates who need help are rapidly increasing.

The committee is of the opinion that, under all the circumstances, and in view of the splendid provisions made by the National Government for the Federal veterans who need assistance, the State of Kentucky, which gave more than 40,000 of her sons to the cause of the South, and who occupied so conspicuous a place in the Confederate army, and who, by their courage and gallantry, brought always credit to their State, will be glad of an opportunity through reasonable appropriation to provide for the proper care and support of these Confederate veterans.

This committee, therefore, urge upon the Confederate veterans to make prompt and generous response to this call, and at the earliest moment to raise the necessary funds for the carrying out of the plans set forth in the resolutions passed by the State organization, and they also ask of such people in Kentucky or elsewhere as sympathize in this movement to aid it by early and liberal contributions.

The above named Company, composed of business men of Paris, has recently been incorporated, and for the purpose of developing their oil and mineral leases, offer for sale a limited number of shares of stock.

The Company's holdings consist of leases on nearly 7,000 acres of land, nearly all of which are located in Barren and Allen Counties, Kentucky. Their lands have been carefully selected, some of which adjoin lands on which are Oil wells that have produced for years a very fine grade of oil. Their leases were secured before the present rush and excitement began in those Counties, and are choice lands, and valuable.

Lands, adjacent to Company's, secured recently by Eastern capitalists at large price, are now being developed as fast as machinery can be put on grounds.

Those desiring stock can obtain same by applying to Secretary or any officers of the Company. 20ct
